

Service Dog Task-Training Log

Track the reps that turn a hoped-for behavior into a reliable trained task.

Owner-training runs on evidence, not hope. Log every practice session — the good and the shaky — so you can see real progress and know when a task is solid enough to rely on.

This log belongs to

Dog's name _____

Handler _____

Task being trained _____

Start date _____

Training sessions

Date	Cue / step worked	Where & distraction	Reps	How it went

A trained alert or medical-response behavior is a supplement to medical care and devices — a CGM, prescribed treatment, a monitor — never a replacement. Log honestly: missed reps and false alerts are data too.